Winning Communities™

Building and Achieving Your Community Vision

Community Development

Helping Communities Succeed: Winning Communities is different than traditional consulting firms focused exclusively on community and economic development planning. ... [Read More...]

Your Community Coach – Jim Dittoe:

Jim Dittoe is a community coach and founder of Winning Communities, a community planning, visioning and consulting company established in 1994 to help communities and organizations envision the future and develop goals and action plans for success. Jim engages leaders within the community to step up and take action, while guiding them through his proven, 90-day action community planning process to achievement.

Winning Communities Blog:

NCAA Division II Team Report – Meaningful Results in Program

MARCH 15, 2011 BY JIM DITTOE • LEAVE A COMMENT

The Division II pilot initiative, Total Engagement Adds Meaning (TEAM) is proving to be a success. The community engagement program begun four years ago has been developed by reaching out to government, business, and local organizational leaders to build a greater home community and strengthen colleges and universities themselves. VP Mike Racy and Jill Willson, Double LL Consulting, chose two terrific schools to lead the effort, the University of Central Missouri (11,000 students) that is a state university in a community of 20,000 residents and Caldwell College, a private school of 1,300 ... [Read More...]

NCAA Community Engagement:

Through a team partnership with NCAA Division II Schools, Winning Communities is helping to foster community engagement within campus towns.

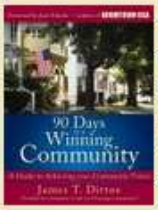
Follow Winning Communities On:

Inspiring Action eNewsletter:

Periodic articles and success tips for encouraging community leaders to help improve their cities, towns and counties!

Enter Email... SUBMIT

Community Planning Book:



An inspirational and practical how-to guide to action planning for community leaders, including the keys to creating a Winning Community. Buy Now

Winning Communities Blog Topics:

Change
Community
Community Beautification Projects